CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 20—Much excitement has been caused here by the developments in the great Potrero land case of Brittan et al vs Adams et al which has been on trial a long time in the Third District Court. H McAllister, of counsel for defendants, read affidavits of McDougal and others to prove that during the pendency of the trial I N Thorne was found in close conference with J M Allen, one of the jurors. The Court at once suspended all proceedings till this morning, and then discharged the entire jury, requiring plaintiffs to pay the costs and ordering Allen and Thorne to appear at 2 P M to-day to answer for contempt of court. The court room was crowded and a large number of interested parties gathered in front of the building discussing the affair.

Weather clear and pleasant. A north wind is blowing, which is rapidly drying the mud in the streets.

Greenbacks, 88[illegible]@89½.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 20—Judge Dwinelle to-day granted Emelia Gray a divorce from John Gray on ground of extreme cruelty. This is the third time Emelia has successfully appealed to the Courts for release from bonds who did not suit her.

The anniversary of Washington's birthday will be celebrated here on Monday. All the banks, public offices and principal places of business will be closed.

James M Page sues the Central Pacific Railroad Company to recover $50,000 damages for having been ejected from the Company's cars at Corinne, he having a ticket to Omaha.

The steamer Japan is receiving freight for China and will sail March 21.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 20—The surgeons in attendance on the boy Harry Slupsky, accidentally shot by Eddie Baker, say there are now hopes of his recovery although the bullet struck his forehead and was extracted from the skull at the back of his head.

At 2 P M to-day the Third District Court commenced the investigation into the charges made against I N Thorne, one of the attorneys for plaintiff, and General J M Allen, a juror in the great Potrero land case, that they had been discovered in close conference on Wednesday night, at North Beach. Thorne and Allen both swore that they were at that place on the night in question but denied that they saw or spoke to each other. Allen volunteered the statement that parties professing to be in the interest of the defendants approached him pending the trial saying they were interested and would like to see the defendants win, but he made no reply to them; also that they treated him several times to whisky and cigars and that he was treated twice to liquor by parties on the side of the plaintiffs. On the other hand the McDougal brothers, employed as detectives in the case, who reiterated their statements in affidavits that they saw that Thorne and General Allen were in close conference at night for about half an hour. The court has adjourned the case till to-morrow at 11 P M to allow the production of further evidence. The court room was densely packed by men and women during the hearing this afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 20—Several more of the Sun printers have commenced suit against the DeYoung brothers, claiming $10,000 each for false imprisonment.

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was entered against Eddie Baker, who shot the boy Slupsky last Tuesday.

Interior California.

MARYSVILLE Cal Feb 20—In the District Court to-day the jury in the case of Kate Ray vs P George, rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $10,000. The suit was brought to recover $50,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage and seduction. The trial lasted three days. The Court House was crowded by the curious during the whole time. Jesse O Goodwin and J S Belcher counsel for plaintiff and N Green Curtiss and W G Murphy for defense.

A burglar entered the jewelry store of W P Stone last night by boring through a panel of the rear door and abstracted about $800 worth of jewelry and small gold coins. Evidences on the premises this morning indicated the work of a greenhand at the business, and suspicion rested on a young man who gives his name as Wm Arnold. He was arrested while attempting to leave on the morning train for San Francisco. A portion of the stolen property was found on his person. The balance of the property will probably be recovered.

BENICIA, Feb 20—The Pacific Mail steamship Montana was yesterday brought to this port for repairs. She was properly moored at the wharf, but at ebb tide grounded, and some of her planks pressed open, allowing the water to rush in in torrents. Every effort is being made by means of steam pumps and other appliances to keep her afloat.

SACRAMENTO Feb 20—The County Court to-day rendered a decision in the case of W Shearer on motion of the counsel to set aside the indictment. The court sustained the motion. The facts of this case are somewhat singular. One Joe White was tried for robbing Myers, of the Tivoli House, of $600, was acquitted, the evidence being insufficient to convict, but subsequently he confessed the crime and accused Shearer of being accessory; the Supreme Court having decided that an accessory cannot be convicted until after the conviction of the principal, and the principal having been tried and acquitted, Shearer was necessarily discharged.

The indictment against J C Goods, ex District Attorney, was also dismissed, the prosecution being barred under statute limitations.

SAN DIEGO Feb 20—The Union editorial says it is estimated that 150,000 cubic yards of sand will be deposited in the harbor by the San Diego river in ten days if the present freshet continues. We must have Congressional aid this season or the harbor will be ruined.

Thomas McCarty, who was last week convicted of murder in the second degree for killing J D Craw at Enigma in this county in July last, was yesterday sentenced to ten years confinement in the State prison. The counsel for defendant asked a stay of execution for sixty days in order to give time to take the case to the Supreme Court. Granted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON POLITICAL ACTION.

Your Committee on Political Action would respectfully submit the following for your consideration:

WHEREAS, There is no vital principle or issue dividing the existing political parties, and recognizing the Temperance Reform as being the great living issue of the age and of such vital importance to the peace, security and happiness of the human family and the purity and integrity of our nation, and believing that judging from past experience there is no hope that any of the existing political parties will ever do anything with any honest intent to assist in removing the evils of intemperance and the liquor traffic, we are of the opinion that the time for an independent action on our part has come; therefore be it

Resolved 1st. That the Alliance appoint a committee of three whose duty it shall be to issue a call to all friends of the Temperance Reform to meet at such time and place as may be designated by this Alliance, to take steps and adopt such measures as will be practicable in inaugurating a separate and distinct independent political action in the coming State election by the temperance people of Oregon.

Rev Wm McElhattan and A J Dunway were appointed a committee to wait on the [illegible] and take up a collection to defray the expenses of the Alliance. There was quite a spirited [illegible] and much fun.

The hour having arrived to take from the table the report of the Committee on Political Action, the report was read by the Secretary.

After the resolution was read Mr How moved to strike out the first section and [illegible] that we [illegible] wait until the other parties had made their nominations; it would be too late for a convention to be called to make nominations.

Mr Reed said that he was in favor of striking out the section as it would be submitting to others when he would rather be independent of them.

The President called Mr Cann to the chair and said he was in favor of leaving the resolution as it was, and as the State Central Committee would not meet until they would set the time of the county and State conventions, then we could call conventions one day after in our respective counties and endorse the temperance men on either of the parties. But if they do not nominate temperance men then we could bring out good honest temperance men and run them even though we knew we would not elect, but probably a great many of both parties would vote for our candidate, and in ten years we will secure every office in the State.

Mr York said if prohibition was right every temperance man should vote for temperance men, and thought that every temperance man should vote on the resolution.

Mrs Duniway addressed the Alliance.

Mr Ryan made some remarks in the course of which he stated that the primaries were managed by a ring in Multnomah county, that the delegates were made up in a lawyer's back office. Probably it was the same in Marion.

Mr Lovey said: There is more disaffection in the two great political parties now than there has been in years. If we will but stick to our principles we may do more now than ever before.

Mr Paquet said injustice was done to all the politicians in saying that they went to saloons to manipulate the primaries.

Mr Hutchison spoke for five minutes in a very excited manner and amid great stamping of feet and other uproar.

Mr P H Hatch called the previous question. Carried.

On the vote of striking out the resolution it was lost.

Mr Hannon moved to amend section 2, by inserting the words "State Temperance Union." A like committee appointed by the State Grange.

Mr McPheeters moved that the amendment be laid on the table. Carried.

Mr Ryan moved to amend the 3d resolution by striking out the words after the "known and approved temperance prohibitionists" and insert "who are known to be in favor of prohibition." Adopted.

On a motion to adopt the resolutions as a whole Mr Reed gave a history of the temperance cause for several years.

Mr Ryan said that he had it thrown into his teeth that temperance men would not do what they profess, but vote party instead of men or principle.

Mrs Dr Sawtelle said that she was in favor of making the politicians of Oregon feel the power of our organization.

A motion was made to consider the resolution by sections but was lost.

Mr Dunbar said he had been a radical Abolitionist, then a radical Republican, and now a radical Temperance man. He was in favor of organizing and go to work in earnest.

Mr Dimick: I am in favor of taking this move and stand to our profession.

Mr Knight—I am in favor of accomplishing all we can, but the question is how are we to do it? Can we make our power felt better by organizing an independent temperance party or by going with the other parties, getting what we can and abide our time?

Mr Knight offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Alliance of the present recommend the temperance voters of this state to support no candidate in either party who is not a known temperance man.

Resolved, That unless the parties nominate and elect such men it will in the near future become the duty of temperance people to take independent political action.

On motion of Mr Ryan the resolutions were laid upon the table.

The debate was continued by Messrs Ryan, Shaw, Hall, McCain and was conducted with great earnestness but courteously.

Rev McPheeters moved the previous question. This motion created some feeling by those who had not but wished to speak. The motion was lost.

Mr J D Beer of Vancouver made a few remarks which were well received.

Mrs Griffin: I have listened with great interest, at the same time with astonishment that the members of this Alliance have not more stamina on this subject. The trouble is they are not strong enough. I hope all the ladies will vote in a body and pass the resolutions.

Mr Crandall: I am opposed to this motion, [illegible] one political party.

A motion was made to allow [illegible] time to speak, as he was not a member of the Alliance. Carried amid cheering.

Mr Jones declined to speak.

Dr S W McDowell spoke a few minutes in an acceptable manner.

On motion the resolutions were adopted amid cheering.

Rev Mr Johnson was invited to speak, when he came forward and spoke some five minutes.

Dr Hall moved that the Alliance proceed to elect the Central Committee provided by the resolution just passed.

Mr Dunbar moved that the vote be reconsidered. Carried.

Mr Ryan moved that the President appoint the Committee. Carried.

Col Reed moved that the Committee be increased to fifteen. Carried.

Mrs McCurdy moved that a Committee of three be appointed to assist the President in appointing the Central Committee. Carried.

Messrs C A Reed, N A Wheeler and [illegible] Dimick were appointed.

Mr Dunbar moved that R D Allen, A D Fleury be admitted as delegates from Silver [illegible] Lodge I O G T.

On motion adjourned to 7½ o'clock.

Opening ode adopted.

Music by Mrs Wm England and [illegible].

Introduced by B W Ryan:

Resolved, That we now fix the place and time for holding the Convention called for in the report of Committee on Political Action. Adopted.

Mr Ryan nominated the city of Portland on the 3d Tuesday in March. Adopted.

Mr Hannon offered the following:

Resolved, That if the so called farmers or people's party nominate candidates for the several offices to be elected at the approaching election who are temperance men and pledged to the passage of a stringent prohibitory liquor law by the next Oregon Legislature, this Alliance hereby pledges such candidates its support.

Laid on the table.

The following was read and on motion referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

RESOLUTIONS SUBMITTED BY [illegible]

WHEREAS, The fruits of intemperance are well known to be pauperism and crime, disease and death, [illegible] of all human sorrow; therefore be it

Resolved, 1st. Realizing that attacking an enemy so firmly and powerfully fortified in the strongholds of custom and the weakness of diseased appetite, we pledge ourselves anew to this Alliance for more faithful and determined effort in behalf of our noble reform.

2d. We are ready to disregard the trammels of party fealty so far as it may be necessary even to the organization of an independent temperance party whenever we are assured that in so doing lie the readiest or the only means of success.

3d. We sympathize with the purposes of all who labor to secure the purity of elections, maintained, to have economy and honesty carried into all the details of public life from the lowest to the highest station, that the happiness of the people, the life and honor of the republic may be guaranteed.

4th. We will cheerfully co-operate with those who have pledged themselves to do battle with extravagance and corruption, if they will inscribe on their banners the twin ideas of righteousness and temperance, reserving the judgment to come for all political knaves and the whisky traffic.

5th. We are glad of the hearty sympathy and will be glad of the more important aid, which the votes of the mothers, daughters and wives of America will bring to us in the day of final triumph to our cause.

6th. We believe this is the hour of golden opportunity, the hour when churches, Sabbath and day school, lodges [illegible] of the world.

ALLIANCE TO PHYSICIANS.

Resolved, That while this Convention, composed largely of non-medical men, does not presume to judge critically of questions of a strictly medical character, and while it does not practically deny the power of alcohol and alcoholic liquors as medicines in certain cases any more than it denies the power of other articles of the materia medica, such as opium, quinine or arsenic, yet in view of the incalculable evils arising from the use of such liquors in health and the great danger of habits of intemperance being established by their frequent use for medical purposes, this body, assembled from different parts of our State for the sole purpose and with an anxious desire to arrest these evils, respectfully but earnestly request the members of the medical profession to carefully reconsider the subject of so freely prescribing these drinks as is now the prevailing fashion, especially in chronic cases and slight ailments, and to substitute other articles so far as the interest of their patients will allow.

Motion to refer to the Committee on Resolutions lost.

On motion the resolutions were adopted.

Music by Prof Prentice and others.

AN INTERESTING COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was read:

SALEM Feb 19 1874.

To the Ladies and Members of the Temperance Alliance: Learning that it was suggested in your meeting yesterday that the ladies of Salem and vicinity should emulate the example set by the ladies of some of the Eastern towns by going to the various saloons and holding prayer meetings, accompanied with sacred music,

I wish to say that I will heartily co-operate with them. I most respectfully tender them the use of my saloon at any time they may choose to come.

There are many ladies who have never seen the inside of a first class saloon or know how they are conducted.

If they will accept an invitation, I can assure them that there is nothing in the furniture of the room or bar that will offend the eye. Neither shall there be a word said that cannot be used in public in any church in the city.

Respectfully and earnestly,
O H SMITH
Proprietor Opera Saloon.

The President announced the following as the State Central Committee:

Marion County—S C Adams, W R Dunbar, T H Cann.
Polk—J B McClain, P C Sullivan.
Washington—Wm McLeod, Mrs M F Hoxter.
Multnomah—B W Ryan, Jas Powell, Mrs A J Duniway.
Linn—H L Williams, Mrs I C Griffin, S C Martin.
Clackamas—J S Foster, W G Welch.

Mrs A J Duniway addressed the Alliance.

A collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the Alliance.

Mrs C A Coburn was called on to repeat a poem which was well received.

S C Adams followed in an energetic speech of fifteen minutes.

Mr P C Sullivan being called, stated that he was very happy to meet with this meeting this evening. When he first came into this room he was somewhat surprised to hear his name mentioned as one of the committee and was surprised to hear several persons decline the appointment on that committee; he was glad to be on that committee [cheers] and would stay right and do all he could.

[Mr Sullivan continued for about fifteen minutes in a lively style.—REP.]

Mr Ryan was called and said that Mrs Duniway had said that the action of the Alliance and to organize a party at this time would result in utter disaster. I for one do not expect to sweep the State but I expect to make the politicians respect us. Ohio had organized a third party and it only polled 600 votes, but the next meeting of the Legislature passed a civil damage law, and that was something at any rate.

Mr Ryan was called to order once or twice but went on and finished his remarks, which were decidedly to the point and uttered with that earnestness that left not the remotest doubt but that they were his sentiments.

Music by Prof Prentice and choir.

Mr Dunbar was called. He spoke for a few minutes in his usual rapid and energetic manner, pledging himself to the cause in which he had been identified for years. He was enthusiastically cheered.

Rev McPheeters was next called, who said that the cry was shouted on all sides, do not form a new party, don't introduce a third party. It was the old cry over again. We could shake the old parties from their moorings. No progress was ever made without raising the shout "do not do it." The cry was a few years ago, "Do not fight the South," "do not free the three millions of negroes of the South." Now I am in favor of forming a new party right away from the old party lines, and be men. At the conclusion of his time, which was ten minutes, Mr McPheeters' call for a new party was cheered to the echo. There was thunderous applause and loud cries of "Go on, Go on." When order was restored, Mr McPheeters declined to go over his allotted time and took his seat.

Mr Ryan moved that the Alliance now proceed to select a place for holding the next session.

Salem was chosen as the place.

Committee consisting of H A Johnson, W R Dunbar and S C Adams were appointed to confer with like committee of the Good Templars [illegible] call.

On motion adjourned sine die.

THANKS.

In closing my report I would beg leave to return my thanks to Mr W R Dunbar, Secretary of the Union, and Mrs C A Coburn, Secretary of the State Alliance, for kindnesses received. Often they incommoded themselves, especially the Secretary of the Alliance.

INDEFATIGABLE SUSAN.—Miss Anthony, the indefatigable, the iron railroad of the East, ever stage line of the Far West, has carried her off her [illegible]. On Wednesday she pleaded her cause before Butler at Washington; on Thursday she petitioned the Senate to refund the price she paid for voting at Rochester; on Thursday evening she harangued the Judiciary Committee of the New York Assembly at Albany. Meantime [illegible] and more may go [illegible]

There are five prisoners in the Linn county jail.

The good Templars of Albany are having a revival.

Hereafter the [illegible] will be printed on new type.

The Society of the M E Church South is erecting a place of worship at Eugene.

There are five saloons and two breweries in Albany, and still Albanians are not happy.

Tom Scott of Salem was seriously kicked by a horse a few days ago and is laid up in consequence.

Col J R Moores, of Salem, is severely ill with inflammatory rheumatism at his residence in Salem.

A protracted meeting at Shedd under the auspices of the M E Church has converted many persons during the past two weeks.

The Good Templar Sociable on the evening of the 18th at Salem was a grand affair. The Union and Alliance were both present in all their glory.

Columbia Hook and Ladder Company have nominated Col White for Chief and M C Athey for Assistant Engineer of Oregon City Fire Department.

The Lafayette Courier suggests that Yamhill county buy one hundred acres of land [illegible] and convert it into a County Fair Ground.

Mr Abbot has arrived at Pendleton with his press, and expects to issue the first number of the new paper about the first of March. The Umatilla Tribune is the name suggested.

John Last, who has for several years past lived a mile or so south of Albany, Friday the 13th inst, died very suddenly from rheumatism of the heart. He had chopped wood in the forest all day on Friday, as usual.

The Christian Messenger, published at Monmouth by Prof Campbell, has again made its appearance. With such an able writer as Prof C to fill its columns the Messenger cannot but be interesting, and ought to be well supported.

A haunted house down below Miller's Station, between Albany and Jefferson, has been troubling the denizens thereabout for some time, although for several years the ghost of the house was supposed to have been successfully laid out.

Governor Grover has commissioned Hon Ransom Beers of Humboldt Basin, Baker county, a Notary Public, and has reappointed Wm L Smith, of Cornelius, Washington county, and J D Biles of Multnomah county, to the same office.

A J Warren has just arrived from Antelope Valley, Wasco county. He has just sold 250 head of cattle to Portland butchers, the cattle having been wintered in that valley. Cattle have fared well in that valley this winter, and grass has begun to grow nicely.

The Statesman of the 19th says: "The Board of Capital Commissioners, excepting Mr Klippel, is now in session at Salem discussing the letting of contracts for the iron work on the State House, and the best time for recommencing operations in the spring. The Board will remain in session for several days."

McMinnville Grange No 31 of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized Sept 13 1873, with 30 charter members. Number of fourth degree members at present date, 65. On Saturday last the fourth degree was conferred upon a class of 14, and we have the applications of 14 more for the first degree, or new members.

At the election of officers for Wild Horse Grange No 25, P of H, Dec 25th, 1873, the following named officers were duly elected for the ensuing year: J S Davis, M; T J Kirk, O; I H Richey, L; J Nelson, S; T Brakes, A S; J H Maynard, C; F Howell, T; D A Richards, S; Anderson Gross, G; Mrs J Howell, C; Mrs M Frakes, P; Mrs H Wormsley, F; Miss N Howell, L A S.

The Farmers Club of McFarland's School District No 25, Linn county, met pursuant to call of the President on Saturday, Feb 14th, at 10 o'clock A. M. The President stated the object of the meeting to be the settling up of the business of the Club as it had been superceded by Hope Grange No 24. The President reported sufficient funds on hand to liquidate all outstanding claims and leave a surplus of twenty five cents. This was appropriated for purposes of benevolence.

On Tuesday last Daniel Johnson, guardian of D H Perkins, a minor, sold at auction all the right, title or interest which his ward had in the townsite of Lafayette to Yamhill county for $250. This quiets the county's title to the property. Under a decision of the Supreme Court, in the case of Whitlow vs Rees, the county's title was not good and it became the duty of the County Court to take the necessary steps to obtain the title from Mrs Patterson and her son, D H Perkins, who is a minor.

Governor Grover during the present week received from the General Land Office a certified copy of clear list No 1 of the selections made by the State for the benefit of colleges for agriculture and the mechanic arts under act of Congress of July 2, 1862, said list embracing 78,670 40 acres. The State is entitled to 90,000 acres. But the selections made in 1869 by the Locating Commissioners embraced about 10,000 acres of the Klamath Reservation, which cannot be approved under the provisions of the acts of Congress granting these lands. New selections will now be made to fill this grant, which will be completed before a great while. The approved Agricultural College Lands lie in the upper Sprague river valley, in the Chewaucan country, along the marsh and river, on Goose and Christmas lakes and in Warner Cree Valley. These lands will now be advertised for sale at the minimum price of not less than $2 50, in currency, per acre, to be disposed of to actual settlers in quantities not exceeding 320 acres, one fourth of the money to be paid down, balance in three several annual installments.

LETTER FROM UMATILLA

WILLOW FORKS, Feb 11 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

To-day we are having the fifth snow that has fallen this winter. Nevertheless stock have done well, excepting a few old cows and poor calves. This is the third winter I have been here, and am well satisfied that it is an excellent stock country. This creek (Willow creek) is well adapted for agricultural purposes, but our present market not being nearer than fifty or seventy five miles makes grain farming unprofitable.

We have good schools and the creek is generally settled with families, but there are a few things that we need very much. One is a mercantile man located at the mouth of this creek on the Columbia that will do a general retail and commission business. Any one with a small capital, wishing to follow that business, would do well to call and see the location and converse with the neighbors on the subject. We are also much in need of a good sawmill here. Lumber is very scarce, but plenty of fine timber in the Blue mountains at the head of this creek.

EXPENDITURES IN THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.—A Washington dispatch of February 14th says: The House committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice will ask the House for authority to send for persons and papers and to administer oaths in the discharge of its duties. About $250,000 are said to have been expended in Marshal's fees in Arkansas and like amounts in southern New York and South Carolina.

THE MISSISSIPPI LEGISLATURE AND SENATOR ALCORN.—A Memphis dispatch of February 14th says: A Jackson special says that in the Mississippi Senate the House resolution requesting Senator Alcorn to resign was defeated by a vote of 20 to 4. The Legislature adjourned to Wednesday in order to attend the carnival at New Orleans.

SATURDAY MORNING FEB 21 1874

THE COST OF BOARDING PRISONERS

Yesterday we called attention to certain specific matters in which a practical reform is needed, in order to reduce the burdens of government to lowest possible figure We specified the offices of Sheriff and Clerk which, in various counties of the State are vastly lucrative and are sought after by all the unscrupulous means generally in use to obtain those offices that confer no honors and promise reward for their seeking and their duties only in the form of money These offices are offered as inducements to the expenditure of large amounts of money to corrupt the elections This is of itself a strong reason why the compensation allowed by law to those officers should be reduced Any office which regularly furnishes a corruption fund for the purpose of carrying elections by perverting the ballot-box into an engine of fraud, presents a case for practical reform

But the matter that is most tangibly and palpably wrong in connection with these is that they are a heavy burden upon the industry and property of the country Take the single item of keeping prisoners in the County Jail for instance. Here is a specimen of it as we have it in Multnomah county which we extract from the Evening News of the 20th inst

> The appropriation made by the County Commissioners this year for board of prisoners in County Jail is $8 000—equal to 9 300 days board at $6 per week—the price paid the Sheriff add thereto Jailer's salary $1 500 • Key money [illegible] $3 000 Janitor's salary, say $500 and you have the amount of the cost of board of prisoners in County Jail in sight for this year—$13 000 Dividing $13 000 by 9 300 days and the cost per day for each person in the County Jail is $1 40 or 90 cents a day more for each prisoner than is proposed to be paid for the same services by the Chief of Police in the City Jail

The Common Council of Portland have reduced the compensation of the Chief of Police for exactly the same service from $1 to 50 cents per day for each prisoner, and that is no doubt a sufficient remuneration But the county is in the hands of the ring That is the difference

BE SPECIFIC

The ad interim editor of the bribers' organ, charges by innuendo what he dare not state with definite specifications, that we have made profit of the office of Councilman of this city We have been a member of the City Council of Portland about five years, and our action during that time is open to investigation We challenge the most rigid scrutiny of every act of ours in that body or in connection with our membership thereof So don't be backward, Mr Bribers' organ, about making your specifications and offering your proofs If we have been false or venal in this office, it will certainly be to the advantage of yourself individually and to the public generally, to bring forward the charges, the specifications, and the evidence upon which we can be convicted Come now, that's business. Anything short of that will be simply sneaking out of the matter like a petty-larceny thief. You have declared, by referring to this subject in your paper that it is one that concerns the public In this we agree with you If the things you insinuate are true, the public should know it As a public journalist, you have no right to withhold the particulars, and we demand that you make your charges specific

"YOU DO ME PROUD

We could scarcely believe our eyes yesterday morning when we read in the Bulletin where it was repeated over and over again, the statement that the articles accredited to us were really productions of Judge Deady's pen To have our work mistaken for his were a compliment of which we should feel truly proud did it come from anybody less stupid than the dullard (I thank thee, Pengra, for teaching me that word) who presides in the absence of Mr James O'Meara over the columns of Mr Holladay's newspaper The truth is we have met Judge Deady but once within five months, and on that occasion, which was more than two months since, we had not to exceed ten minutes' conversation with him We must be excused for indulging a little self-gratulation on being able to write so that even the editor pro tem of the bribers' organ, dull though he is, should attribute our work to such a master's hand We peg up a notch for that

A story which has been going the rounds of the press is to the effect that Louis Kossuth the Hungarian patriot, has been overtaken by poverty in his old age and is now compelled to give lessons in foreign languages for the poor pittance of a franc for each lesson This story is denied by Louis Ruttkay, a nephew of Kossuth He writes to the Chicago Tribune saying that Kossuth is in very comfortable circumstances, that he wants for nothing and that his sons who are both excellent civil engineers are with him The correspondent says Were the facts of his situation as detailed in that article he would be the last to complain of or parade it And did he know of the publication, he would feel severely pained that it should receive even a passing credence

It is said that Governor John McEnery of Louisiana, has complained through friends to Senator Morton relative to the severity of his language in the recent debate on the Louisiana question wherein Morton alleged that he (McEnery) was an assassin and murderer and demanding a public denial and retraction of the same otherwise McEnery in view of Senator Morton's physical debility will feel compelled through a card to the public to defend himself and he intimates that in such an event he will not spare feelings nor avoid damaging personal ties against the Senator from Indiana

Jubal Early wants Congress to abolish the offices of Senators and Representatives from Virginia He says the delegation has never been of any use to the State He asks the United States to pay over to Virginia the salaries of the eleven Senators and members in all about $100 000 There may be something in the suggestion It is possible that one or two of the States would be content with a simple annihilation of their present delegations And it might be a good investment for some States to pay their representatives $100 000 to resign

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer Eli Perkins gives a $15 chromo to every adult who sits out his lecture The unhappy wight who is thus enticed after listening to Eli's eloquence will need a coffin not a chromo

GOVERNOR SHEPHERD'S TRIBULATIONS

For more than a year past charges impeaching the administration of Governor Shepherd and the integrity of individual members of the Board of Public Works of the District of Columbia have been freely circulating through the newspapers of the whole country This Board of Public works it is understood, commenced the work of renovating the City of Washington under the pressure of a real necessity The National Capital it was said is the shabbiest city in the Union And under authority of Congress Gov Cooke we believe began the work of improvement on a vast and grand scale Miles of pavement were laid other miles of magnificent avenues were opened up Huge sewers were built and a magnificent system of water supply furnished All this was nice enough The Board of Public Works thought that while they were doing all these things they might as well do them in the handsomest style

There seems to be no reason to question the excellence of these sewers and avenues and pavements In fact there was an apparent disposition on the part of the public spirited builders to regard these pavements and things as monuments of their handiwork They were wont to gaze upon them and remark, somewhat after the fashion of one of old "Are not these the sewers which I have builded?" There seems however to be this difference in the cases there was no average Congressman in the days of Nebuchadnezzar to say Thus far shalt thou go and no farther and here shall thy expensive sewers be stayed" The average Congressman had not yet been evolved from the lowly bivalve Indeed, Congress had expressly stipulated that the expenditures should not exceed five millions of dollars But what are stipulations and of what avail are prohibitory clauses in a country where Boss Tweeds and Credit Mobiliers are possible, and where deficiencies are contemplated and provided for as part of the programme of good government? So it was that this Board of Public Works pledged the credit of the District for something like fifteen millions of dollars Prying newspaper correspondents found this thing out A thousand voices proclaimed it in every part of the land, and very soon the head of the Board found himself invested with the soubriquet of "Boss Shepherd So unceasing was the cry for an investigation of the affairs of the District that one of the old time Senators referring to the denunciations of the press, said the other day, "This is no longer a Government of men,—it is a Government of newspapers"

Now it may be that Gov Shepherd is a good man and economical It may also be that the finances of the District of Columbia have been managed with proper regard for the rights of the tax payers But while these things may be true Gov. Shepherd and his associates manifest most irritable moods when Congressional scrutiny is hinted at For instance Jere. Wilson, "the great investigator," uncovered a mare's nest in the House the other day when he presented a memorial from citizens of the District petitioning for a Committee of Investigation to inquire into the management of this Board of Public Works Senator Thurman presented similar petitions, in the Senate Hear what the Administration organ, the Washington Republican, says of them

> Mr Thurman was selected to present it Since the last election in Ohio Mr Thurman has been placed in training for the Presidency Mr Jeremiah S. Black and two or three other patriots, have been entrusted with the management and direction of the campaign the first step in which is to break down the Republican party through Grant's administration Intentionally, or unintentionally our patriot petitioners have been made the catspaw of these designing politicians and at any hazard, it must be proven that the gentlemen whom Gen Grant and the Republican party have intrusted with the work of making Washington what it should be, an honor instead of a disgrace to the Union are as wicked as corrupt and as unscrupulous as the late Tammany ring in New York the exposure of whose crimes killed the Democratic party This is the game The Washington ring as it is called is to be made the offset to Tammany and Thurman is to be heralded to the country as the great reformer,—the pure and spotless candidate of a whitewashed Democracy in the next Presidential election This explanation is necessary to a proper understanding of the political animus that underlies and inspires the present attack upon the District officials. Washington is supposed to be the most vulnerable point in the Republican line and a demonstration is made upon it for the purpose of overwhelming the party Will the Republican majority now in Congress allow itself to be made the tool of Thurman and Black and the gang of malcontents who for purposes of their own have consented to be the mere agents and abettors? If a Republican Congressman can vote for the investigation after these dreadful disclosures then is he indeed gone astray and become utterly disloyal As Judge Wilson is a Republican and has chosen in the House to espouse the cause of the investigators and is too shrewd to be made a catspaw of it is inferred that he is to be the candidate for Vice President on the Thurman ticket

Of course, this is sheer nonsense These petitions were signed by many of the most prominent and influential citizens of the District—men like W W Corcoran the millionaire whose munificent gifts for the promotion of art and science and in aid of popular education in the city of Washington were most liberally applauded by this same journal—the Republican

Public men and affairs are so constituted just at this time, that attempts to prevent inquiry into the management of grave financial trusts serve only to increase suspicion instead of disarming it The people have a right to call their agents to account for stewardship And when those agents are thus summoned it is folly to plead that they who make the demand are calumniators or murderers of credit and private reputation as a Washington exchange puts it A portion of this kind cause a fair presumption that there is something rotten in Denmark It is a well known truism that honest public officials when their integrity is impeached invite the fullest gates of calumny [illegible] them ought to court the full [illegible] most thorough examination

This Washington Board of Public Works protested vehemently against the appointment of the joint committee prayed for in the petition above cited Congress has granted the prayer however and an investigation will be had We hope it may be thorough and final

The Grangers of California have begun an attack on the system of paying county officers by fees Several petitions have been presented to the Legislature praying that hereafter all such officers shall be paid by salary The Grangers of Oregon would do well to look into the abuses of the fee system as it is practiced in many of the counties of this State

PORTLAND Feb 20 1874

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Please publish the accompanying letter from Gov Grover addressed to the Secretary of the Oregon State Woman Suffrage Association and read before the Association at the late convention of the same in this city Whether the reporters were justified in supposing that His Excellency sympathized with the movement the people can judge Very respectfully

SALEM Feb 4 1874

Mrs C A Coburn Secretary O S W S A, Madam —Your letter honoring me with an invitation to attend and address the meeting of your Association shortly to be held in Portland has been duly received A press of public business connected with my official duties will render it impracticable for me to accept your complimentary invitation

Very truly yours L F GROVER

The Williams Letter —A Washington dispatch of the 6th inst says The reports relating to the letter of Attorney General Williams to the Judiciary Committee, are considerably exaggerated There are no indignant expressions contained in the communication of the Attorney General and the substance of it is an explanation more than otherwise, of certain matters given prominence in the testimony before the committee at the time when Judge Williams nomination for Chief Justice was pending in that committee The letter written to that committee is regarded as confidential and this probably is the reason why the reports in reference thereto are greatly in exaggeration of the real temper of the document.

A [illegible] ROMANCE.—Particulars of the following [illegible] romance have just reached [illegible] as follows About one most [illegible] since [illegible] who resides in Portland had [illegible] some friends living over [illegible] While there she became [illegible] with a well to do farmer [illegible] birth a Canadian Frenchman The [illegible] was a bachelor and being [illegible] was very desirous [illegible] matrimonial alliance with [illegible] providing of course that [illegible] be amicably and mutually [illegible] French farmer soon made [illegible] married lady his wishes in the [illegible] desired her to look [illegible] when he returned to [illegible] He was not so very particular [illegible] after reaching his age [illegible] required to be of good character [illegible] body and mind in industrious frugal [illegible] tolerably handsome and all that [illegible] became interested in the affair [illegible] to do all in her power [illegible] the city a few weeks since she [illegible] matter to several of her neighbors [illegible] likewise promised to interest themselves [illegible] of the matrimonial candidate One [illegible] was thought would fill [illegible] young lady was interviewed [illegible] willingness to enter the mar[illegible] she could find a suitable person [illegible] was recommended as a proper [illegible] in good circumstances and [illegible] to provide for a wife To this the [illegible] lady responded by saying that it [illegible] appearance she entertained no conscientious scruples against wedding him [illegible] So the only way to settle the [illegible] cause the wavering undecided [illegible] the lady's mind to kick the balance [illegible] or the other was to produce the [illegible] and accordingly he was written to [illegible] days afterwards and he immediately [illegible] solicited. Suffice to say he came and [illegible] stand on the order of the same either He was introduced to his intended gave perfect satisfaction and before his return they [illegible] between the parties to the contract, and among the friends who were directly instrumental in bringing the match about In a day or so after the man returned home, the most delighted Frenchman in [illegible] with the understanding that his betrothed should join him in Washington Territory in a few weeks and the twain were to be made one [illegible] intended bride is now busily making preparations and the nuptials will doubtless be celebrated soon

DIED SUDDENLY.—A young man named Wm Smith who has been in the employ of the O S N Co for several years, died quite suddenly at his home in the city yesterday morning Mr Smith was taken ill about one week ago and compelled to quit work However he was not considered dangerously ill [illegible] Yesterday morning Mr Smith had been [illegible] feeling slightly weary [illegible] chair and started to go to the [illegible] Before reaching it, he reeled and fell to the floor Several persons who were in the room at the time sprang forward [illegible] by the time [illegible] the vital spark of life [illegible] Deceased was aged about twenty [illegible] by birth a German He [illegible] and one small child [illegible] in Victoria, and [illegible] arrangement is, we believe [illegible] remains there for interment Mr Smith was a steady industrious young fellow and [illegible] by [illegible] employers His sudden death is attributed to heart disease

FIRST AND STARK STREETS.—At the intersection of these thoroughfares [illegible] precarious condition of the [illegible] for some time [illegible] culminated in [illegible] is not wholly [illegible] danger is constantly increasing [illegible] cistern at that point continuing [illegible] away thus causing [illegible] Unless some precaution is taken [illegible] entirely [illegible] Nicolai [illegible] shall doubtless be [illegible] serious or fatal accident But [illegible] pleasant results will [illegible] ordinance [illegible] has already passed the Common Council authorizing the construction of a new cistern of [illegible] capacity of 48 000 gallons [illegible] a few days [illegible] the contract for the construction of this cistern will be let, and work soon commenced thereafter Yesterday we observed several men engaged in repairing the pavement at that point

DON'T KILL THE BIRDS.—For a few days past those beautiful harbingers of spring the robbins have come from their winter quarters and are to be seen flitting about the city in many places The boys who seem determined to be some kind of deviltry are killing many of them with gung slings and rocks, and catching them in traps etc [illegible] to slaughter the innocent birds This ought to be stopped as the robbins do no harm to any one and are the protection of the fruit trees in our [illegible] and gardens destroying many of the insects which inhabit the trees and shrubbery We understand that the useless and [illegible] destruction of these birds will be made the subject of some action by the Council at its next meeting and trust some measures will be inaugurated to stop it

HAULING OUT.—On making efforts to draw the steamer Lurline Troup out on the ways it was [illegible] to be almost an impossible feat and [illegible] The hull of the boat is to be [illegible] after the fashion of the Beaver of light draft which will require some month to [illegible] some other boat belonging to the company may probably require repairs [illegible] will have to be hauled out on the ways which [illegible] done if they were occupied by the Lurline Troup For that and other reasons the company have determined to haul her out [illegible] on the beach where she [illegible] built Workmen were engaged yesterday with a capstan cables [illegible] tackle [illegible] have succeeded thus far in [illegible] beaching the unhandled craft

JOHN IN TROUBLE.—The evening cotemporary is responsible for the following. Joseph Taylor who left this city somewhat hurriedly a few weeks since on account of [illegible] was [illegible] Victoria [illegible] was arrested [illegible] convicted [illegible] in Her Majesty's [illegible] guilty [illegible] was sentenced to [illegible] years [illegible] hard labor [illegible] statement that Joe was [illegible] of the British [illegible] the law [illegible] promised Mr [illegible]

CITY.

A B T OF ROMANCE—Particulars of the following bit of romance have just reached our ears which are as follows About one month since a married lady who resides in Portland had occasion to visit some friends living over on Cowlitz Prairie While there she became acquainted with a well to do farmer who was by birth a Canadian Frenchman This person was a bachelor and being in good circumstances was very desirous of forming a matrimonial alliance with some young lady providing of course that matters could be amicably and mutually adjusted Our French farmer soon made known to the married lady his wishes in this respect and desired her to look out for him a suitable companion when she returned to Portland He was not so very particular as most men are after reaching his age Of course she was required to be of good character sound in body and mind industrious frugal, moderately handsome, and all that The married lady became interested in the affair and promised to do all in her power Returning to the city a few weeks since she mentioned the matter to several of her neighbors who likewise promised to interest themselves in behalf of the matrimonial candidate One of the neighbors had in her employ a servant girl who it was thought would "fill the bill" This young lady was "interviewed," and expressed a willingness to enter the married state if she could find a suitable person Our Frenchman was recommended as a proper person and one in good circumstances and abundantly able to provide for a wife To this the young lady responded by saying that if she liked his appearance, she entertained no conscientious scruples against wedding him "sight unseen" So the only way to settle the difficulty and cause the wavering, undecided balance in the lady's mind to "kick the beam" one way or the other, was to produce the candidate and accordingly he was written to a few days afterwards, and his immediate presence solicited Suffice to say he came, and did not stand on the order of the same either He was introduced to his intended, gave perfect satisfaction and before his return they were betrothed Every arrangement was perfected between the parties to the contract, and among the friends who were directly instrumental in bringing the match about In a day or so after the man returned home, the most delighted Frenchman in the universe, with the understanding that his betrothed should join him in Washington Territory in a few weeks, and the twain were to be made one. The intended bride is now busily making preparations, and the nuptials will doubtless be celebrated soon

DIED SUDDENLY —A young man named Wm Smith, who has been in the employ of the O S N Co for several years, died quite suddenly at his home in this city yesterday morning Mr Smith was taken ill about one week ago, and compelled to quit work However he was not considered dangerous by any means and was not confined to his bed all the time Yesterday morning Mr Smith had been sitting up for several hours, and feeling slightly wearied, he arose from his chair and started to go to the bed Before reaching it he reeled and fell to the floor Several persons who were in the room at the time sprang forward and caught him, but by the time he could be laid on the bed, the vital spark of life was forever fled Deceased was aged about twenty six years, and by birth a German He leaves a wife and one small child As he formerly resided at Victoria and has relatives living there, the arrangement is, we believe, to send the remains there for interment. Mr Smith was a steady, industrious young fellow, and well respected by his employers His sudden death is attributed to heart disease

FIRST AND STARK STREETS —At the intersection of these thoroughfares, the precarious condition of the cistern has for some time jeopardized travel, and finally culminated in the partial barricading of the street Travel is not wholly suspended and the danger is constantly increasing The edges of the cistern at that point continue to cave away, thus causing the foundation of the surrounding street to be shaken and removed Unless some precautions are observed, either in entirely preventing travel, or thoroughly bracing up the Nicolson pavement, we shall doubtless be called upon ere long to chronicle a serious or fatal accident But these unpleasant results will, we hope, be avoided, as an ordinance has already passed the Common Council authorizing the construction of a new cistern there with a capacity of 48,000 gallons In a few days more the contract for the construction of this cistern will be let and work soon commenced thereafter Yesterday we observed several men engaged in repairing the pavement at that point

DON'T KILL THE BIRDS"—For a few days past those beautiful harbingers of spring, the robins, have come from their winter quarters and are to be seen flying about the city in many places The boys who seem determined to be in some kind of deviltry are killing many of them with guns, slings and rocks, and catching them in traps, etc, any way to slaughter the innocent birds This ought to be stopped, as the robbins do no harm to any one, and are the guardians of the fruit trees in our yards and gardens, destroying many of the insects which inhabit the trees and shrubbery We understand that the useless and uncalled-for destruction of these birds will be made the subject of some action by the Common Council at its next meeting and trust some measures will be inaugurated to stop it

HAULING OUT —On making efforts to draw the steamer Fannie Troup out on the ways it was found to be almost an impossible feat and abandoned The hull of the boat is to be rebuilt after the fashion of the Beaver, of light draught, which will require some months to do Meantime, some other boat belonging to the company may probably require repairs and will have to be hauled out on the ways which could not be done if they were occupied by the Fannie Troup For that and other reasons the company have determined to draw her out sidewise on the beach, where the hull can be easily built Workmen were engaged yesterday with a capstan, cables, chains and tackle and have succeeded thus far in partially beaching the dismantled craft

JOSEPH IN TROUBLE —The evening cotemporary is responsible for the following Joseph Taylor who left this city somewhat hurriedly a few weeks since, on account of some irregularities in a horse trade was arrested in Victoria immediately after his arrival for a crime committed on the occasion of a former residence in Her Majesty's dominions, and being found guilty was sentenced to eight years imprisonment at hard labor Connected with this story is a statement that Joe was decoyed into the jaws of the British Lion by an emissary of the law who promised Mr and Mrs Joe great things and he was entirely thrown off his guard and became an easy prey

NEW SIDEWALK —Notice has been served on property owners for the laying of a sidewalk on the east side of Front street The work will be commenced directly opposite the St Charles Hotel and be laid to a point beyond the southern limit of the fire It is intended to commence work as soon as lumber can be obtained and carpenters procured so that there will soon be an uninterrupted line of sidewalk extending along the eastern side of Front street for the entire distance of the burnt district Pedestrians will rejoice to hear of this improvement

OVERHAULING —The steam tug [illegible] is now lying alongside the Willamette Iron Works and workmen have already commenced to repair and overhaul her It is the intention of the owners to have her thoroughly overhauled The boiler will be taken out almost made new and the machinery and hull will also receive careful attention It will require several months to complete this work but the [illegible] will be as good as new when she returns for service again Meantime the [illegible] will take her place at the mouth of the river

IRON WORK.—The plans and specifications of the iron work necessary to be used on the first and second stories of the State Capitol, at Salem have been completed by Messrs Krumbein & Gilbert Several gentlemen of the city have been engaged for some time in figuring on the work with a view of bidding for the contract, which we learn will soon be let Some of the work will be difficult and intricate and it is questionable whether it can be cast here or not

TUG SEDALIA —This little tug which was recently purchased by Mr James Fox is now lying at the upper sawmill Since purchasing this boat Mr Fox has had her thoroughly overhauled The upper works have been taken away and a new cabin is being built The machinery is also being altered in several particulars In a few weeks the tug will report for service When ready the Sedalia will engage in a general towage business

NO SYMPATHIES EXPRESSED —On carefully perusing the letter written by His Excellency Gov Grover sent us for publication by Mrs C A Coburn Secretary of the Woman Suffrage Association and which appears in another column we find that by no construction does its contents express any sympathies in behalf of the movement We were slightly in error in making that statement in the proceedings of the Association

FISH BOILERS —From present appearances, and the extensive preparations which are being made by proprietors of the several fisheries down the river we should judge that an unusual amount of salmon will be put up during the present fishing season At present the foundries of the city are busily employed in turning out a large number of boilers which will be used in connection with the canning of salmon

A DEAR DOLLAR —Maggie Marshal who stole a Trade dollar from a Dr Wheeler, on Thursday, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of larceny Maggie at length compromised the difficulty by the payment of the neat little sum of $18 in the way of costs, etc This is certainly a new method of acquiring wealth—steal one dollar and pay $17 to get clear of the scrape.

A NEW HOTEL —We learn that Mr J Hunsaker, of Oregon City, has made all arrangements for an early commencement on his new brick hotel to be erected upon the site of the Russ House destroyed in the fire of August last The new structure will be ready for occupancy about the 1st of June next and will be opened at that time under the management of J B Kellogg, Esq.

"HOW CRIMINALS ARE MADE"—Dr. Lindsley will discuss this question to morrow evening by request, at the Presbyterian Church Owing to late events this subject is forcing itself upon thoughtful minds in this community, and the lecturer will no doubt endeavor to impress its salutary lessons upon his hearers, and especially upon young persons of both sexes

FIRE CISTERN —Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Auditor and Clerk of the city of Portland, until 12 o clock M, Wednesday February 25th, 1874 for furnishing material and constructing a fire cistern of 48,000 gallons capacity, at the intersection of Stark and First streets Plans and specifications can be seen at the Auditor's office

APPOINTED —In consequence of the implication of the young man Fagan in the Kalama robbery a vacancy exists in the express and telegraph office at that place This vacancy has been temporarily filled by the appointment of Capt Taylor, of Kalama This gentleman will act as the agent for Wells, Fargo & Co for the present

READY FOR BUSINESS —Mr A J Dufur, who has been appointed resident agent in this city for the Grangers throughout the State, has leased an office in the second story of Corbett's new building, corner of Front and Washington streets, and will be ready to report for business about the 1st of next month

G A R.—The members of the consolidated Posts of Canby and Baker are requested to meet at their hall on Monday next at 12 o clock M, for the purpose of joining the parade of the Washington Guard, in honor of Washington's Birth Day

ARRESTED —It is reported that John Clarke who formerly kept a bowling alley in this city, was recently arrested in Victoria on some offense which he committed before he came to Portland, and while residing in British Columbia

ADDITIONAL FACTS.

By the confession of Fagan, in the Kalama robbery case it appears that the money was not abstracted from the box in the car as was generally supposed but taken out in the express office Fagan admits that he took the $8 000 out of the box and handed it to Budlong who hid it in the Spring house which is attached to the residence occupied by Mr Hale where he was lodging at the time Afterward Budlong tore off the canvas which enclosed the currency and took out $120 in small denominations He then crammed the remainder of the money in a boot—the same discovered by Mrs Curtis—and threw it under that lady's house Fagan was then informed by his friend where the money could be found and promised to remove it to some place of safety where it could be secreted This he never did for want of courage He stated that several times under cover of darkness he started with the intention of taking away the boot but he was so conscience-stricken and so preyed upon by guilty fears that he imagined some one was dogging his footstep He was too cowardly to carry out his part of the work and so the money was allowed to remain until it was discovered Both parties admit that the $120 was burned up to avoid discovery When Budlong had concealed the money he came back to the office and assisted Frenchy the colored porter to carry the express baggage over to the car He then gave the porter a letter to carry to Mrs Hale merely as a pretext to be left alone with the treasure box for a few moments No sooner had Frenchy disappeared than Budlong took from his pocket a lead key and broke it off in the padlock attached to the box This as a matter of course was a ruse, to divert suspicion As to the complicity of Clark P Morris in the robbery there exists little or no doubt in the public mind Budlong and Fagan both declared on the stand that he had planned the whole affair that Morris object in so warmly recommending Budlong as a suitable and competent person for express messenger on the railroad was made with special reference to his acting as an accomplice in abstracting money whenever an opportunity afforded One key (there were several of them, some made of lead and others of zinc and composition), was made at the place where Fagan was stopping and the rest at the residence of Mr Morris under the advice and with the consent of that gentleman

The two other daily newspapers of the city have intimated that a prominent lady was implicated in some manner with the affair, and the name of Mrs Hale has been used quite freely in that connection In justice to the lady, we will state that Budlong repeatedly asserted in the presence of the Court the attorneys and other parties, that Mrs Hale knew nothing whatever of the robbery and is entirely innocent of any complicity in the affair In this regard his testimony was corroborated by Fagan

Almost immediately after Fagan made his confession he was taken under arrest On the somewhat abrupt conclusion of the trial, Budlong was held to answer the charge by Justices Ried and Smith in the ridiculously low sum of one thousand dollars Fagan was taken before Justice Beall who required him to give bonds in the same sum Both parties have through the aid of their friends, furnished the required bail, and are now at large In the public mind at Kalama the impression exists very strongly that Mr Morris is guilty as appears by the confessions of the arrested parties Considerable sympathy is felt and expressed in behalf of Fagan, who appears deeply repentant since his confession Budlong on the contrary does not seem to realize his situation, or if he does, not to feel any especial concern for results

Health's Shield and Protection.

Health is universally admitted to be the most desirable of earthly blessings yet it is jeoparded as recklessly as if it were of no value at all Thousands who are compelled by their occupations and pursuits to breathe unwholesome air to expose themselves to violent alternations of heat and cold and to brave other evils inimical to health and life utterly neglect to fortify themselves against the dangers which surround them by a proper course of tonic treatment For many years it has been a public fact undenied even by the martinets of the medical profession that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best antidote to malaria and the best acclimating medicine in existence In fever and ague districts in tropical and other regions visited by epidemics and indeed in all localities where the conditions are unfavorable to health this famous vegetable invigorant and alterative has been found a potent safeguard even to feeble constitutions and fragile frames, while as a cure for indigestion biliousness and all kindred complaints it is confessedly without a rival

Gentlemen on the lookout for suits of clothing, as a matter of course want to go to a good first class place and we can recommend the establishment of Messrs Beck & Waldman It is in every respect a first class house They turn out no suits that are not in both quality and fit up to the very highest standard of excellence The reputation they have gained in this respect extends far beyond the limits of the twin cities and is increasing their business [illegible] They always aim to please their customers

Mr Monteith Indian Agent at Fort Lapwai, has received instructions from Washington to inform all such Indians as persist in their refusal to remove to and reside within the limits of the present reservation, that they cannot expect the Government to continue to extend its protection and guardianship over them in an Indian capacity so long as they continue to reside without the reservation

The Lewiston Signal of Feb 14th says Messrs Peck Worden Giles and Delany returned from a quartz prospecting tour up Snake river about seventy miles this week They report having found a number of ledges of gold bearing rock of remarkable width Mr Worden has shown us some samples taken from the ledges in which gold and other valuable metals are plainly visible

Thirteen inches of snow fell at Lewiston Idaho in January A correspondent of the Signal says "we have not had more than four inches of snow at any one time usually going off with a slight rain Had the frost been out of the ground I don't think there has been enough of water from the snow and rain to wet the earth thoroughly The month has been pleasant for work the hillsides being in good condition for plowing many times during the month"

The Idaho Signal publishes a letter from Delegate Hailey, referring to the receipt of petitions asking for the removal of Indian Agent Monteith Of the result the letter says "I have presented the petitions to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and the Secretary of the Interior but they refused to remove Mr Monteith on the charges preferred from the fact that he (Monteith) had only been acting under orders from the Indian Department

The Walla Walla Union says In all directions we hear of very deep snows in the mountains There has already more snow fallen this Winter than in any other preceding one for many years And thus far there has been no thawing in the mountains, all the snow that has fallen still lying there Not a week passes but that more is being added The prospects now are that when the snows on the head waters of the large streams begin to melt there will be very high waters soon after Portland will need to move her cellars back on higher ground before the 10th of June. But the pleasing feature of all this is that there is a better prospect for a good mining season and a heavier yield of gold than we have had for a long time

THE MASTER'S CALL

They tell me a solemn story, but it is not sad to me
For in its sweet unfolding my Saviour's love I see
They say that at any moment the Lord of Life may come
To lift me from this earth land into the light of home

They say I may have no warning, I may not even hear
The rustling of His garments as He softly draweth near Suddenly in a moment upon my ear may fall
The summons to leave our homestead to answer the Master's call

Perhaps He'll come in the noontide of some bright and sunny day
When with dear ones all around me my life seems bright and gay
I [illegible] must be the pathway easy the shining road
Up from this dimmer sunlight into the light of God

Perhaps He'll come in the stillness of the mild and quiet night
When the earth is calmly sleeping neath the moonbeam's silvery light
When the stars are softly shining o'er slumbering land and sea
Perhaps in the holy stillness the Master will come for me

I think I would rather hear it, that voice so low and sweet
Calling me out from the shadow my blessed Lord to meet
Up through the glowing splendors of a starry earthly night
To see the King in His beauty in a land of purer light

THE JURY SYSTEM IN ITALY

It is one thing for a people to be proud of its political institutions, but quite another thing to imagine that those same institutions would be equally valuable if adopted in the case of other nations. A remarkable illustration of this comes to us from Italy in the instance of a trial by jury. It would be extremely hazardous to say whether the jury system is a discovery peculiar to civilization. As something very much like it was adopted with success in ages past when society was less perfect than it is now, perhaps some people would be disposed to regard it as a relic of barbarism. But on the other hand, when under Tammany influence it failed to secure justice to the people the impression began to grow that a demoralized condition of society needed something more strictly to be depended on, and perhaps this consideration brings us somewhere near the truth, for it would seem, from all experience, that the jury system can only be successful where society is not thoroughly corrupt, and where the people have some measure of practical education.

In Italy it has produced some remarkable results, and the Minister of Justice despairs of being able to retain it in the Italian courts for a long time to come. An Italian paper reports several recent cases which, if they were not well authenticated, would seem hardly credible. The Duchess of Tastogirardi, residing in Naples, lost some valuable diamonds. Suspicion fell upon her lady's maid, who was forwith arrested and tried. The evidence was quite conclusive against the woman, but the jury acquitted her and blamed only the Duchess, who, they declared, ought not to have exposed her diamonds, which had exercised such a terrible fascination on the poor maid that she had been driven to commit the theft by irresistible force, and, therefore, was not guilty. This was not unlike the verdict delivered by a Welsh jury, who found the prisoner "not guilty," but accompanied the finding with a recommendation that the judge should caution the prisoner not to yield to temptation again.

Ignorance or stupidity on the part of the Italian jurymen may have led to their decision, but in another instance the violent prejudice of the people is ludicrously displayed. A man fired a gun at random into a church and hit in the leg of a gentleman who was kneeling at his devotions. The offender was brought to trial, but the jury decided that if he the gentleman had not been at church his leg would not have been in the way of the bullet. The fault, therefore, was not with the man who fired the gun and who was acquitted accordingly, but it was the man who yielded to a bigoted superstition, and went to the place where the shot happened to reach him. A tax collector absconded with some public money, amounting to about fifteen million francs. He was caught, brought back, and tried, but the jury acquitted him because the money he had stolen was the people's money, and as he was one of the people he was part owner of that money, and of course it would be monstrous to convict a man of stealing what is his own. It may seem strange that such an ingenious argument has never occurred to the legal defenders of some of our own public thieves, but they are very welcome to the suggestion. It is at least as good an argument as many that have been urged.

But it would appear that, absurd as they may be in the minds of sensible people, parallel cases are by no means uncommon in Italy. It is, therefore, with very substantial reason that the Minister of Justice proposes some substitute for the system of trial by jury. But the fundamental cause of its failure is clearly the ignorance of the people. Men who arrive at judicial decisions through such arguments are plainly unfit to be vested with any important responsibility, and a valuable institution is made not only worthless but dangerous, because the nation is too degraded to profit by it, or even to use it with common intelligence.

EUPHROSYNE PAREPA ROSA.

[Chicago Tribune, Jan. 24th.]

When it comes to music, however, no artist was ever grounded upon more solid abilities. Her voice was like a matchless and finely-tuned instrument in its purity, and this quality gave to it wonderful distinctness and penetrative power. A remarkable instance of this was afforded at the first Boston Jubilee. She had herself great doubts as to her ability to fill the vast Coliseum with her voice, and at the first rehearsal was very reluctant to appear. Her doubts, however, disappeared after the first concert. Her opening number of the "Inflammatus," in which she took the sustained C against a thousand instruments and ten thousand voices with such purity, and at the same time with such force, that it was distinctly heard in the most remote part of the building. In addition to these qualities, her voice was even throughout its entire register and thoroughly balanced, and, notwithstanding its great volume and quantity, her command of fioriture was extraordinary. Her method was perfect, and has more than once been held up as a model by teachers for their pupils to study, and both in intonation and enunciation she was faultless. When to all this is added the fact that she was the most correct practical musician on the stage and a perfect master of musical technicalities, the secret of her great reputation is disclosed. Her versatility was no less remarkable than her vocal abilities. She sang in German, Italian or English opera, in oratorios or in ballad music with equal ease. In oratorio music she has never had an equal in this country. Her dignity, grandeur, and breadth of style admirably fitted her for the measures of the old masters, and she delivered them with genuine classical elegance and finish, and with an impressiveness which was always in keeping with the exalted character of this music. In ballad music also she was unrivaled. The most of the ballads which she sang were the merest musical trifles. With almost any other singer they would have been dreary and commonplace, but everything she touched she adorned, and little nothings like "Five o'Clock in the Morning," "Sing, Birdie, Sing," and "When I've Nothing Else to Do," left an unmistakable impression upon every one when she had sung them.

In her private life she was a lady of unsullied reputation. Scandal had never touched her fair fame with even a breath. Her disposition was amiable and affable, her good humor constant and overflowing, and her feelings kind and charitable. In her social intercourse she was unusually agreeable and easy, and her elegant culture lent a special charm to her conversation. Her place will not easily be filled, for she came nearer to the hearts of the people than any other singer. Her splendid voice is forever hushed, and we shall look upon that genial sunny face, which was as innocent as the face of a child, no more.

American Shipping

The question whether American shipping has increased or decreased [illegible] year is exciting [illegible] discussion in Eastern papers. From exhaustive statements compiled from [illegible] it appears that with [illegible] more population and [illegible] per cent more commerce [illegible] than in [illegible] the United States is to-day building one twentieth the number of first class vessels that it did in the year last named (18[illegible])—a most startling exhibit and one which if correct ought to cause earnest and diligent inquiry as to the causes of this great decline, and if possible to have them removed.

The returns at the office of the Secretary of the Treasury show that we had 1[illegible] more vessels in the foreign trade in 18[illegible] than we had in 1872 but we had 2[illegible] tons less, showing that the size of our vessels is deteriorating. Foreigners had [illegible] vessels more in 187[illegible] than in 1872, and their tonnage increased 1,602,2[illegible] tons—showing that the size of foreign vessels increases. And the above figures show that while the average American vessel in the foreign trade had a capacity of [illegible] tons in 1872 and only [illegible] tons in 18[illegible], the average capacity of the foreign vessel increased from 78 tons in 1872 to [illegible] tons in 18[illegible]. The foreigner only beat us in average capacity [illegible] tons in 18[illegible] but he beat us [illegible] in 18[illegible]. But this decline in average capacity is very much against us for the smaller the average capacity of vessels other things being equal the greater the average expenses. Comparing the tables of relative tonnage with the previous tables of relative values of freight carried it is perceived that while in 1872 it required 7,[illegible] tons of American vessels to transport $[illegible] worth of freight, 14,[illegible] tons of foreign vessels were able to transport $[illegible]. In other words the American vessel was only carrying in 1872 $[illegible] to the ton while the foreign vessel was carrying $[illegible] to the ton. In 187[illegible] the American vessel carried $47 to the ton but the foreign vessel carried $[illegible]. This indicates a discrimination in the class of freights offered to our vessels that of itself is fatally significant. Ton for ton they must charter for freights that are more than 20 per cent lower than the freights secured by foreign vessels. At the same time and leaving all differences in cost of construction out of the question, these tables show that while American vessels must accept lower freights than foreign vessels obtain, their sailing expenses are higher and increasing. Thus in 1872, on American vessels there was a hand employed to each 31 tons of vessel but in 187[illegible] a hand to each 33 tons.

BARLEY—The demand is fair at $1 40a1 45 ₶ cental sacked.

HAY—The receipts are falling off and though the supply is not large, prices seem but little inclined to advance. We quote good baled Timothy at $14 ₶ ton, loose do [illegible] $12 [illegible] $13. Wild Grass $8a9.

FEED—The advance of spring and the large supplies on hand have a tendency to weaken prices and render the placing of large lots a matter of some difficulty. We quote prices paid at $[illegible] ₶ ton for Bran, $25 for Chopped and $2[illegible] for Shorts and Middlings—all sacked.

POTATOES—The supply is better and without any demand of importance outside the local trade. Prices are not disposed to advance. For best varieties [illegible] cents ₶ bushel; inferior [illegible]c.

ONIONS—But few lots are now reaching this market and with the usual demand prices are some better. We quote at $[illegible] ₶ 100 lbs.

APPLES—The last steamer for San Francisco carried away 1,500 boxes of choice varieties which met with a dull market in San Francisco, and the fact has depressed the trade here. Offers for best neatly packed are not above [illegible] cents ₶ box. Common loose lots have met with no change.

DRIED FRUIT—The supply is in excess of the current demand either for the home trade or for shipping. We quote Apples in kegs [illegible] ₶ lb in sacks [illegible]. Dried Plums are in full supply at [illegible]c ₶ lb for pitless, and [illegible]c with pits.

BACON—The receipts of the past few days have been limited and a very fair demand rules for good lots. Quotable at [illegible] ₶ lb for Shoulders, [illegible] for Sides, and 15a16c for Hams.

LARD—The receipts are perceptibly increasing and owing to the limited demand prices are not so brisk. We quote in kegs 11[illegible] ₶ lb in tins at [illegible]

BUTTER—There is still some complaint as to late receipts on account of quality. This article is one of the most difficult to quote in the market as the price which buyers are willing to pay depend entirely on the quality which varies from such as is not fit for any use to as good as is made in any country. We find no reason to change our last quotations.

CHEESE—This article is not very abundant in the market. Our quotations for the Oregon product are 16a17 cents ₶ lb.

CITY ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ordinance No. 1414.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE MODE OF expenditures of public moneys and the presentation of claims.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. No portion of any appropriation made out of any Fund in the City Treasury, the mode of expenditure whereof is not expressly provided for by Ordinance, shall be deemed applicable to the payment of any claim, nor shall any claim be audited or presented to the Common Council except as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. All claims shall be presented to the Auditor during office hours on or before the day fixed for the meeting of the Common Council preceding the day fixed for the meeting of the Common Council; if presented on the day of meeting it shall be laid over to the next succeeding meeting except on extraordinary occasions; such claims shall be in the name of the party interested therein, and shall have attached thereto a certificate signed by such party or his duly authorized agent to the effect that he is the person, or agent of the person, requested to furnish the supplies and perform the work mentioned in said bill; that the same has been duly furnished or performed, and that the prices charged are the lowest current market rates for labor performed and for the articles of the same quality as those furnished, or that the prices charged are as agreed upon by contract, and shall be endorsed (if correct) approved, with the date of approval and signed by the committee or officer authorized to make such expenditure.

Section 3. Upon the presentation of any claim endorsed as provided in Section (2) two of this Ordinance the Auditor shall examine the same and if found to be in conformity with law, endorse thereon the number of the Ordinance authorizing such expenditure (or of the authorization if by resolution as provided in Section six (6) of this Ordinance), the appropriation out of which the same is payable, the date of auditing and the amount due thereon, together with any suggestion or explanation which he may deem proper and pertinent.

Section 4. A claim presented to the Auditor for supplies or work unauthorized in express terms by any ordinance or resolution or for which no appropriation has been made applicable to the payment thereof may be presented to the Council if endorsed by the proper officer or committee. Claims in the nature of damages for extraordinary services of not properly under the supervision of any committee or officer, may also be presented if endorsed by two members of the Council to the effect that they consider such claim or any portion thereof is just and reasonable. The Auditor shall make such endorsements upon any claim of the character described in this Section as shall enable the Council to determine as to whether the same is a legal or equitable claim against the City or otherwise, and what action is necessary for its payment or for such portion as may be deemed just.

Section 5. Unless otherwise provided by ordinance, claims for work done or for material and supplies furnished shall be under the supervision of and certified by the several standing committees and officers as herein set forth:

In all matters relating to the streets, parks, bridges, street lamps and public ground by the Committee on Streets and Public Property and Superintendent of Streets.

In all matters relating to the fire apparatus, engine houses, hydrants and cisterns by the Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer.

In all matters relating to the Police Department not under the supervision of the Police Commissioners, including expenses of the police building, jail and board of prisoners, and also all matters relating to the public health not under the supervision of the Board of Health by the Committee on Health and Police and Chief of Police.

The expenses of Council rooms and adjacent offices, the purchase of stationery, including the printing of blanks for the several departments, advertising and the several items of current expenses not otherwise provided for by the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses and the Auditor. Provided, That stationery and blanks shall be under the charge of the Auditor for delivery to the several departments upon the written requisition of the officers in charge thereof.

Expenses connected with litigation by the Committee on Judiciary.

For the care of the Dredging apparatus and expenses incident to the use thereof by the Committee [illegible]. All other improvements, other expenditures not herein expressly provided for shall be under the charge of the committee to whom they may from time to time be referred or having charge of expenditures of a similar nature.

Section 6. No expense for supplies or labor or both exceeding in the aggregate the sum of one hundred dollars shall be incurred unless expressly provided for by ordinance, and no liability for a less sum than one hundred dollars shall be incurred except as hereinafter provided.

A committee or officer may be authorized by resolution of the Common Council to incur expense in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars for any specified object or purpose provided an appropriation applicable to the payment thereof has previously been made, in which case the Auditor shall furnish such committee or officer with a copy of such authorization for delivery to the party furnishing the supplies or doing the work therein specified to be returned by him to the Auditor with the claim therefor.

Section 7. In case of any accident to any portion of the fire apparatus, hydrants or cisterns rendering the same unfit for service, the Committee on Fire and Water and Chief Engineer shall be authorized to have such repairs made at once, anything in this ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding, and they shall report to the Common Council at its next meeting the necessity for such action.

Section 8. In any other case of emergency where in it is apparent that the interests of the city will materially suffer unless action be had prior to a meeting of the Common Council, the proper committee shall be authorized to proceed in the matter without delay, incurring as little expense as possible until such meeting, when they shall report the facts and apply for a proper authorization.

Passed the Common Council February 11 1874.

W. S. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved February 12, 1874.
